

When it Comes to Offices, Quality Has a Name: COBE Development

The completely renovated One Macdonald Center, 1 N. Macdonald, has attracted yet another quality business to downtown Mesa – COBE Development in Suite 506.

The business, which moved from Gilbert to downtown Mesa in February, specializes in the development of commercial office properties in the Phoenix-Mesa metro area.

Whether serving the needs of doctors, dentists or other professionals, COBE Development places a strong emphasis on location. “We do considerable research to find unparalleled locations with high accessibility and positive projected growth. Offices with close proximity to freeways, desirable demographics, good traffic patterns and other revenue-generating factors add value and success to the end-user’s business,” said Steve Beck, whose last name combines with that of his partner David Collins to form the name COBE (Collins Beck).

COBE Development also emphasizes quality design with exceptional architecture and superior building materials. Just as importantly, all five members of the COBE team work hard to develop quality relationships. “We believe if we take care of our clients, in the long run everyone involved will benefit ten-fold with increased business. We’re there for them, we work hard for them, and we care about their success,” David said.

COBE Development was founded in 2005. The company’s first project, Carmél Professional Plaza at Gilbert and Queen Creek Roads in Chandler, is scheduled to break ground in July. COBE’s second development, Camelback 101 Professional Plaza at the southeast corner of Camelback Road and the Agua Fria Freeway (Loop 101), will break ground in January 2007.
